

feng shui at work

Boost the bottom line with the Bagua.

YOUR ENVIRONMENT CAN affect what's happening in your career and business, so if there is an area that needs a change for the positive, align your space with the Bagua, the Feng Shui map. Simple adjustments in your space at work can give you more energy and business opportunities.

In a recent Elements of Harmony study of dozens of individuals and companies that applied the Bagua to their space, more than 80 percent experienced positive results, ranging from drastic, immediate windfalls to subtle changes in their careers, relationships, finances, health, family and overall well-being. The best results came when participants were enthusiastic about making changes.

Here's how you can begin applying the Bagua to your office, building, property or even your desk – and reap the benefits.

PROSPERITY (upper left corner): Anchor this corner with the CEO's office or desk, valuables or items representing prosperity to improve wealth, increase cash flow and encourage abundance.

RELATIONSHIPS (upper right corner): Anchor this area with the sales and marketing staff, conference room, or company and/or family photos to facilitate successful relationships.

FAME (upper center area): Hang awards, company/personal values and mission statements in this area for career advancements and greater recognition.

CAREER (front center area): Place running water or art that depicts flow toward the office, or a mirror that reflects positive chi (energy) into the space near the front door, to increase the flow of business, opportunities and new beginnings.

CREATIVITY (left middle area): Hang a white eraser board for bright ideas or situate the creative staff in this section to open up creativity and complete projects.

ANCESTORS (right middle area): Add a healthy plant to this part of your desk or office to strengthen the roots of the entire company. 🌱

JENNA BOYD
elementsofharmony.com